DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Claims 1-2,5, 6, and 8-20 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected claims, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 2/25/05.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamazaki ('730), and further in view of Mitlitsky et al ('404).

Yamazaki teaches the following claimed limitations with respect to claims 3 and 4:

3. A semiconductor device comprising plural transistors formed in a polycrystalline semiconductor thin film, wherein the polycrystalline semiconductor thin film is formed by a plurality of laser irradiation steps, (Abs., lines: 12-16) the number of crystal grains with the number of closest crystal grains of 6 is greatest among plural crystal grains that form the polycrystalline semiconductor thin film(Col.8, lines: 25-45 and Fig.2A).

Art Unit: 2813

4. A semiconductor device as defined in claim 3, wherein the roughness of the grain the polycrystalline boundaries on the surface of semiconductor thin film is 5 nm or less(Col.6, lines: 5-10).

However, Yamazaki teaches that to heat last laser irradiation results in a monocrystalline film and fails to teach the limitation of claim 3, "wherein the laser irradiation steps are carried out so that after the last laser irradiation step the number of crystal grains with the number of closest crystal grains of 6 is greatest among plural crystal grains".

However, as Mitlitsky et al teaches that lasers may be used to form polycrystalline thin films at lower temperatures than conventional heating techniques (Col.10, lines: 10-20).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Yamazaki's teachings to use a laser, rather than conventional heating, to form a polysilicon layer as taught by Mitlitsky because as Mitlitsky teaches, laser annealing prevents damage to underlying silicon substrates and still produces a multi-grained crystalline film (Col.1, lines: 10-25).

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
